

The water evaporates. The water molecules mix with other molecules in the air.

